NAV accretion has been an important pillar of the strategy since 2005

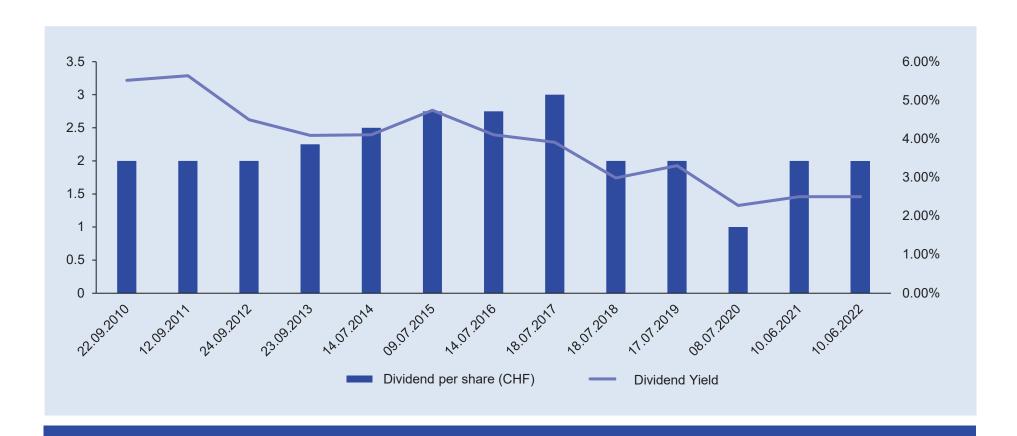

- The purchase of treasury shares at a discount to NAV is accretive for the remaining shareholders.
- Depending on the prevailing discount level, investing in treasury shares can be more attractive than making new investments.
- Since April 2004, PEH bought 1.87 million shares* for over EUR 78 million.

<sup>* 1.87</sup> million shares are >40% of the 4.5 million shares outstanding as at March 31, 2004

Strategy PEH established an annual distribution policy in 2010

- In addition to the perspective for long-term capital gains, PEH offers its shareholders an annual dividend payment, which has been completed at levels above 2% yield of the prevailing share price since 2010.
- In 2018, the annual dividend per share was reduced to allow for an increased investment rate; this was then done again in 2020 given the uncertainty around the effects of the pandemic in 2021, CHF 2 per share were paid again.

Since 2010, PEH distributed ca. EUR 138 million to its shareholders

Portfolio cash flows providing for solid foundation

Leading US wood pellet manufacturer

Lignetics is the leading US wood pellet manufacturer that controls 53% of the nationwide residential heating capacities and is circa 16x as large as the next largest competitor.

The company offers efficient, cost effective and environmentally friendlier heating products (both regenerative and lower CO2-emissions) than major alternatives for its end-users (oil and propane);

Growth potential

The demand for the company's current main product, heating pellets upcycled from wood waste, is inelastic and shall further benefit from trends towards sustainability. The company's second major product category, BBQ pellets, offers substantial growth opportunities.

Performance

Conservative valuation policy provides for upside at exit

- Between 2010 and Q1 2022, the realised amounts in respect of underlying portfolio investments have been consistently higher than their valuations six and 12 months prior to the respective exit event.
- Our sample is based on 779 realisations including 66 write-offs.
- This analysis shows that private equity portfolios are valued prudently and, on average, significantly below their future potential.
